Excerpt: . . . to Neale, who, it appears, actually resisted any proposition as to bankruptcy until he found the house closed on the Monday morning. The act of bankruptcy against him was permitting the house to remain closed; and, under the circumstances, it cannot be said that such an act can have any relation to the conversation which took place on Saturday evening in his absence. Moreover, the declaration of insolvency was not a complete act of bankruptcy till filed, and that did not take place till the Monday; so that it cannot be established that the firm became bankrupt till the latter day, although one of the partners resolved on bankruptcy previously; for such a determination by one partner will not bind the firm. In Saeller v. Belcher, and the case there cited, it had been agreed on by all the partners that the bank should not be re-opened. Assuming this deposit to be cash, it would pass to the assignees; and it appears by the receipt, as well as by the custom of dealing between the parties, that this deposit was intended to be taken to be cash to be accounted for on demand; and this takes the case out of the doctrine in Wlzitmore v. Wells; for there no receipt was given. It is true no entry was made in the bank books; but that is to be accounted for by the lateness of the hour, and the books having been closed for that...
